- Complete Form 1040-V. If a joint return, list taxpayers and SSNs in the order they are listed on the return. Form 1040-V helps the IRS process a payment more accurately and efficiently. Mail the Form 1040-V and payment to the address shown on the form that applies to the taxpayer.

- Keep all canceled checks for tax payments.

Credit or debit card payments. A taxpayer can pay using various credit cards or with certain debit cards. The taxpayer will be charged a convenience fee.

If the preparation software does not integrate e-filing and e-payment, the taxpayer can contact one of the service providers below to arrange payment:

Pay online. The IRS offers the following online electronic payment options in addition to the credit and debit card processors listed above:

- IRS Direct Pay for online transfers directly from a checking or savings account at no cost (go to www.irs.gov/payments).
- Electronic Funds Withdrawal (EFW) is an integrated efile/e-pay option offered when filing federal taxes electronically using tax preparation software, through a tax professional or the IRS at www.irs.gov/payments.
- Same-day Wire (bank fees may apply).
- Digital Wallets (Paypal and Click to Pay).

EFTPS. Taxpayers can pay the balance due on their returns, make estimated tax payments, and pay business taxes by direct debit authorized over the internet. Taxpayers must be enrolled in the Electronic Federal Tax Payment System (EFTPS) program before a debit payment can be made. Enroll at www.eftps.gov. There's no cost to use this tax payment system.

 Note: In addition to the EFTPS program, individual taxpayers can now make tax payments through their online account, which can be accessed at www.irs.gov/account.

Mobile device. To pay through a mobile device, the taxpayer must download the IRS2Go app.

Pay by cash. Cash is an in-person payment option for individuals provided through retail partners with a maximum of $500 per-payment and a $1.50–2.50 fee per payment. See www.irs.gov/payments/pay-with-cash-at-a-retail-partner for a list of participating stores, fees, and limits. To make a cash payment, the individual must first be registered online at fed.acipayonline.com or pay1040.com.

Unable to pay. See Options for Taxpayers Unable to Pay Tax Due on Page 16-4.

Estimated Tax Penalty

See Underpayment/Estimated Tax Penalty on Page 16-7.

Calculate the penalty on Form 2210 or 2210-F and enter on line 38. Include the penalty in the amount owed on line 37. If there is an overpayment of tax, the estimated tax penalty is subtracted from the overpayment shown on line 34. If line 38 is blank and a penalty is owed, the IRS will calculate the penalty and send a bill.

SCHEDULE 1—PART I: ADDITIONAL INCOME

Form 1099-K Transactions

For 2024, the amount of reported income on Form(s) 1099-K that was included in error or for personal items sold at a loss should be reported on the line at the top of Schedule 1. The remaining amounts should be reported elsewhere on the return depending on the nature of the transaction.

Payment settlement entities must report debit and credit card sales to the IRS and merchants receiving payments. These payments are reported on Form 1099-K. A payment settlement entity is a bank or other organization that has the contractual obligation to make payment to participating payees in settlement of payment card transactions or third party network transactions. A participating payee is anyone who accepts a payment card (or account number associated with a card) as payment or accepts payments from a Third-Party Settlement Organization (TPSO) in settlement of a third-party network transaction.

A TPSO is only required to issue a Form 1099-K to a payee when the total dollar amount of all transactions during the calendar year exceeds a de minimis threshold [IRC Sec. 6050W(e)]. This de minimis exception only applies to third party network transactions (not payment card transactions which have no reporting threshold).

The American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) significantly reduced the de minimis threshold for TPSOs. Until passage of ARPA, the threshold was 200 or more transactions per year and the dollar amount of those transactions exceeded $20,000. ARPA reduced the dollar amount to $600 per year with no minimum transaction requirement. This means a single transaction for $600 or more settled through a TPSO is reportable.

 Observation: The reduced 1099-K filing threshold was originally intended to take effect beginning in 2022 (for Forms 1099-K due in 2023). However, the IRS provided relief for TPSOs by declaring both 2022 and 2023 transition periods for implementation of the lowered minimum reporting requirements and allowed them to use the threshold in place prior to the changes brought about by ARPA (Notices 2023-10 and 2023-74).

 Note: The IRS's transition period continues in 2024 and 2025 (Notice 2024-85). Rather than the $600 threshold called for in IRC Sec. 6050W(e), the reporting threshold for 2024 Forms 1099-K (due in 2025) is $5,000 with no minimum transaction requirement.

 Observation: The reduction in the Form 1099-K reporting threshold has been controversial. Practitioners should monitor the situation to see what the IRS does for 2025.

Taxable Refunds, Credits, or Offsets of State and Local Income Taxes

See IRS Pub. 525.

State and local income tax refunds are taxable (reported on line 1 of Form 1040, Schedule 1) if the refunded tax was deducted in a prior year and the taxpayer received a tax benefit from the deduction. Refunds are not taxable if the taxpayer did not itemize deductions in the prior year or elected to deduct state and local general sales taxes instead of state and local income taxes.

Use the State and Local Tax Refund Worksheet on Page 4-21 to calculate the taxable portion of the refund. Report only the taxable part of the refund on line 1.

 Note: If a taxpayer received a tax benefit from deducting state or local taxes in a prior tax year and the taxpayer recovers all or a portion of those taxes in the current tax year, the taxpayer must include in gross income the lesser of (1) the difference between the taxpayer's total itemized deductions taken in the prior year and

- Taxable distributions from a health savings account (see Taxable health savings account (HSA) distributions on Page 4-22) or an Archer MSA. Taxable distributions may also be subject to an additional tax. See Forms 8889 and 8853.
- Deemed income from an HSA because the individual did not remain HSA-eligible during the testing period. See Recapture on Page 4-23.
- Reemployment trade adjustment assistance (RTAA) payments (Form 1099-G, box 5).
- Loss on certain corrective distributions of excess elective deferrals to employer retirement plans. A loss is reported as a negative amount and identified as "Loss on Excess Deferral Distribution."
- Dividends on insurance policies if they exceed the total of all net premiums paid for the contract.
- Taxable cancellation of debt income (non-business debts). See Canceled Debt on Page 4-4.
- Recapture of charitable contribution deductions related to donations of fractional interests in personal property or to property donations when the charity disposes of the property within three years.
- Taxable part of disaster relief payments.
- Taxable distributions from an ABLE account. See Qualified ABLE Programs on Page 13-3.
- Scholarship and fellowship grants not reported on Form W-2.
- Nontaxable amount of Medicaid waiver payment included on Form 1040, line 1a or 1d. See instructions.
- Pension or annuity from a nonqualified deferred compensation plan or a nongovernmental Section 457 plan.
- Wages earned while incarcerated.
- Digital assets received as ordinary income not reported elsewhere.
- Section 461(l) excess business loss adjustments.
- U.S. shareholders of controlled foreign corporations are required to report their (1) prorata share of the corporation's subpart F income under IRC Sec. 951, and (2) the global intangible low-taxed income (GILTI) in taxable income under IRC Sec. 951A. Include the amount figured on Form 8992, and attach a copy. Attach a copy of Form 5471 if applicable.
- Income and taxable reimbursements not included on any other line or schedule.

Taxable health savings account (HSA) distributions. Distributions not used for qualified medical expenses of the account beneficiary, spouse, or dependents are included in gross income and subject to a 20% additional tax. Exceptions to the additional tax include distributions after the beneficiary's death, disability, or attainment of age 65. (Qualified medical expenses are generally the same as for itemized medical expenses. See Tab 5. Exception: Insurance premiums normally are not treated as a qualified medical expense for HSAs.)

All HSA distributions are reported on Form 8889 [Health Savings Accounts (HSAs)] where the taxable amount and 20% additional tax, if any, are computed and carried to line 8f of Form 1040, Schedule 1; and line 17c of Form 1040, Schedule 2, respectively.

Crowdfunding. For years beginning after 2024 (tax years 2024 and 2025 are transitional years—see IR-2023-221, Notice 2024-85), the Form 1099-K filing threshold is met when the total of all payments distributed to a person is more than $600, r and 2025 (Notice 2024-85) regardless of the number of transactions or donations. However, payment processors are not required to file Form 1099-K if the contributors to the crowdfunding campaign do not receive goods or services for their contributions. Conversely, when a payment processor distributes money raised meeting the reporting threshold ($600), and the contributors received goods or services for their contributions, then a Form 1099-K is required to be filed. Box 1 should reflect the gross amount of the distributions made during the calendar year; however, the issuance of Form 1099-K does not automatically mean the amount reported is taxable to the recipient. For further discussion, see Form 1099-K Transactions on Page 4-20.

The income tax consequences depend on all the facts and circumstances and the distribution of the money raised may not be taxable income to the recipient. Income is taxable unless specifically excluded, and gifts are generally excluded. If crowdfunding contributions are made as a result of the contributors' detached and disinterested generosity, and without the contributors receiving or expecting to receive anything in return, the amounts may be gifts and therefore may not be includable in the gross income of those for whom the campaign was organized.

⚠ Note: Crowdfunding organizers and any person receiving amounts from crowdfunding should keep complete and accurate records of all facts and circumstances surrounding the fundraising and disposition of funds for at least three years.

SCHEDULE 1—PART II: ADJUSTMENTS TO INCOME

Educator Expenses

See Educator expenses—Form 1040, Schedule 1 on Page 9-7.

Business Expenses for Certain Employees

Form 2106. See Above-the-Line Deduction for Certain Employees on Page 9-7.

Health Savings Account Deduction

See IRS Pub. 969.

A health savings account (HSA) is a savings account set up exclusively for paying the qualified medical expenses of the account beneficiary or the beneficiary's spouse or dependents (IRC Sec. 223).

Eligible individuals. To qualify for an HSA, an individual:

- Must be covered under a high deductible health plan (HDHP).
- May not be covered under any non-HDHP health plan.
- Cannot be enrolled in Medicare. See INFO 2016-0003 and 2016-0014 for guidance on computing the maximum HSA contribution for the year the individual reaches age 65 and first enrolls in Medicare.
- Cannot be eligible to be claimed as a dependent on another person's return.

⚠ Note: Telehealth and other remote care coverage is disregarded in determining eligibility in the case of plan years beginning after 2022, and before January 1, 2025.

The Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) of 2022 provided that for years beginning after 2022, an HDHP may provide a $0 deductible for selected insulin products.

Employees. The employee, the employer, or both may contribute to the HSA.

- Contributions made by the employee are deductible.
- Contributions made by the employer (including contributions made through a cafeteria plan) are excluded from employee's income and are not subject to employment taxes.

S corporation shareholders. More-than-2% shareholders are not eligible for pre-tax HSA contributions by their employer. Employer contributions to a more-than-2% shareholder's HSA are generally treated as compensation and then deducted by the shareholder (Notice 2005-8).

Social Security Statement

An individual's social security statement is available at www.ssa.gov/myaccount. To access the statement, individuals must create a my Social Security account. The statement includes estimates of the individual's retirement and disability benefits, lifetime earnings according to social security's records, and the estimated social security and Medicare taxes the individual has paid.

Estimating Social Security Benefits

An estimate of social security benefits can be found on the social security statement or online at www.ssa.gov/prepare/plan-retirement. There are calculators that estimate potential benefit amounts using assumptions about retirement dates and different levels of future earnings. The calculators show retirement benefits as well as disability and survivor benefit amounts.

Tax on Social Security Benefits

A portion of social security benefits is taxed if income above a "base amount" (based on filing status) is received in addition to social security benefits (IRC Sec. 86). Form SSA-1099 is received each January showing the amount of benefits received in the previous year. See the Social Security Benefits Worksheet (2024) on Page 3-13.

Single and HOH returns. If combined income is over $25,000 (base amount) and under $34,001, up to 50% of benefits are taxable. If combined income is above $34,000, up to 85% of benefits are taxable.

Joint returns. If combined income is over $32,000 (base amount) and under $44,001, up to 50% of benefits are taxable. If combined income is above $44,000, up to 85% of benefits are taxable.

Married filing separate returns. If the taxpayer lived apart from his spouse all year, benefits are taxed the same as for a single person. If the taxpayer lived with his spouse at any time during the year, the base amount is $0 and the taxpayer will generally pay tax on up to 85% of benefits regardless of income.

Social Security Quick Chart—Retirement Benefits (2025)

	Early Retirement (Permanently Reduced Benefits)	Full Retirement (Full Benefits)	Delayed Retirement (Permanently Increased Benefits)
Eligibility for Benefits	Workers are eligible for early retirement benefits at age 62. Note: If retirement is disability-related, apply for disability benefits, which generally equal full retirement benefits.	Full retirement age (FRA) (see below) is when a worker can retire and collect full retirement benefits.	Delayed retirement is available for a worker over the FRA. At age 70, workers automatically receive benefits.
Age and Benefit Payments	Receiving benefits before FRA permanently reduces monthly benefits based on number of months benefits received before FRA. Spousal benefits based on the worker's coverage are also reduced.	FRA depends on the year the worker was born.	Delaying benefits past FRA increases benefits as follows:

Eligibility	Workers are not eligible for Medicare until they are age 65, are disabled or have permanent kidney failure. Receiving social security benefits before FRA has no impact.

Earnings Limit for Individuals Receiving Benefits Before FRA (2025)

Under FRA, benefits reduced by $1 for each $2 earned over	$23,400
Year FRA reached, benefits reduced $1 for each $3 earned over (months up to FRA only)	62,160
Month FRA reached and later.....	No Limit

- Wages, salaries, and commissions count toward the earnings limit when earned, and not when paid.
- Net SE income counts toward the earnings limit when paid, and not when earned. Exception: Net SE income does not count toward the earnings limit if paid in a year after the retiree became eligible for social security, and it was earned before the retiree became eligible for social security benefits.

↳ Notes:

- If other family members receive benefits on the worker's record, total family benefits will be affected by the worker's earnings.
- If a family member works, the family member's earnings affect only his own benefits.
- Earnings do not affect entitlement to Medicare benefits.

Example: Elroy began receiving social security benefits in 2024, but did not reach FRA until August 1, 2025. He earned $63,600 in the seven months from January through July of 2025. During this period, his social security benefit is reduced by $480 $[($63,600 - $62,160) \div 3]$.

Special payments after retirement. After the taxpayer begins taking benefits, he may receive special payments for work done before receiving social security benefits. Usually, special payments will not affect benefits if the Social Security Administration knows that the special payments are for compensation for work done before taking benefits. Bonuses, vacation pay, commissions, and sick pay are examples of special payments.

Contact the Social Security Administration and inform them when earnings include a special payment. If they agree, the special payment will not be counted toward the total earnings for the year.

Special rule—first year benefits received. When a person begins receiving benefits before FRA, the earnings limit only applies to the months after he begins collecting social security benefits.

Example: John turned age 62 on August 30, 2025 and chose to begin receiving social security benefits on that date. Before he began receiving benefits, John worked full time and earned $45,000 during January through August of 2025.

Assume John takes a part-time job in September of 2025 and earns $500 per month from September–December. Although his earnings for the year substantially exceed the 2025 earnings limit ($23,400), he will still receive a full social security check for September through December because his earnings in those months are less than the 2025 monthly limit of $1,950 $($23,400 \div 12)$. The limit is applied on a monthly basis only for the year benefits are first received. In future years, the earnings limit applies on a yearly basis.

Government Pension Offset (GPO)

If a retiree receives a pension from work not covered by social security (federal civil service, state or local government employment, etc.), social security benefits may be reduced.

There are several exceptions to the GPO rules. Details are available at www.ssa.gov. Basically, any social security benefits a retiree may be eligible to receive will be reduced by two-thirds of any retirement benefits from non-covered employment. This includes benefits the retiree might be entitled to as a spouse or a widow based on the earnings of the retiree's spouse.

Law Change Alert: The Social Security Fairness Act (HR 82) was signed into law on January 5, 2025. The Act repeals the GPO provisions effective December 31, 2023. The SSA is evaluating how to implement the Act, particularly as it is retroactive. Practitioners should continue to monitor this situation.

Example: Ray receives a civil service pension of $600 per month. He is eligible to receive a $500 spousal benefit based on his spouse, May's, social security account. However, two-thirds of his monthly pension ($400) will offset his spousal benefit so he will receive only $100 ($500 – $400). May's benefit is not reduced unless she also receives a pension from employment not covered by social security.

Months Benefits Are Not Payable

No benefits are payable for:

- The month of the person's death (for worker's benefits only; survivors' benefits begin in the month of the worker's death).
- The month in which a person reaches age 62 (unless the birthday is on the first or second day of the month). An individual receiving benefits at full retirement age receives the first check for the first month he meets all of the eligibility requirements.
- Months during which an individual serves jail time related to a crime punishable by imprisonment of at least one month for which he is convicted. For most social security programs, the full month's benefits are not payable even when an individual served only a day of that month in jail surrounding a criminal conviction.

↳ Note: Family members eligible for benefits can continue to receive benefits.

FAMILY AND SURVIVOR BENEFITS

See the Social Security Quick Chart—Family, Survivor, and Disability Benefits (2025) on Page 14-27 for information on survivor benefits.

DISABILITY BENEFITS

See the Social Security Quick Chart—Family, Survivor, and Disability Benefits (2025) on Page 14-27 for information on disability benefits.

Definition. Disabled under social security means a worker must have a medical condition that: (1) prevents the worker from doing the work he did before, (2) prevents him from adjusting to other work, and (3) is either expected to last (or has lasted) for at least 12 months, or expected to result in death. Social security disability benefits are not intended for temporary conditions.

Determination of Disability—Process

- 1) If earnings average more than $1,620 ($2,700 if blind) (in 2025) per month, a person is generally not considered disabled.
- 2) Impairments must interfere with basic work-related activities.
- 3) Condition must be found in the list of disabling impairments maintained by the SSA. If the condition is not on the list, a decision is made if it is of equal severity to an impairment on the list.
- 4) Determination must be made whether the condition interferes with the ability to do the kind of work done before the disability.
- 5) If work done before cannot be done, other types of work are considered. Age, education, past work experience, and transferable skills are considered.

↳ Note: Special rules apply to blind persons because of the impact of blindness on the ability to work. Contact the SSA for information.

Work Incentives

If a person is receiving disability benefits, the following work incentives apply.

↳ Note: Disabled recipients must report all income received from work, no matter how little the amount.

Trial work period allows individuals to test their ability to work for at least nine months. During a trial work period, individuals receive full social security benefits regardless of how much they earn as long as they report their work activity and continue to have a disabling impairment. In 2025, a trial work month is any month in which the disabled individual's earnings are over $1,160. The trial work period continues until the individual has worked nine months within a 60-month period.

Extended eligibility period. For at least 36 months after a successful trial work period, if a person is still disabled, he will be eligible to receive a monthly benefit without a new application for any month his earnings drop below $1,620 ($2,700 if blind) (for 2025).

Expedited reinstatement. If benefits stop due to substantial earnings, a person who is unable to continue working due to his disability has five years to request that his benefits resume without reapplying or waiting for a review of the medical condition.

Deductions for impairment-related expenses. Work expenses related to the disability may be deducted from earnings in determining whether they constitute substantial work.

Medicare continuation. If an individual has premium-free Medicare hospital insurance and starts working, he may have at least 8½ years of extended coverage (including the nine-month trial work period if he is still disabled). After that, the individual may purchase Medicare Part A coverage by paying a monthly premium.

Other Payments—Impact on Disability Benefits

Workers' compensation or certain other government disability benefits may reduce social security disability benefits, or social security disability benefits may reduce other disability payments. The sum of all social security disability benefits paid to the worker and to his family cannot exceed 80% of the worker's earnings averaged over a period of time shortly before the disability.

Disabled After Age 62

If a worker becomes disabled after age 62 and has received a reduced retirement benefit before becoming entitled to disability payments, the disability benefit will be reduced for the number of months he received the early retirement benefit.

MEDICARE

www.medicare.gov

Medicare is a national health insurance program for:

- Persons age 65 and older.
- Certain disabled persons.
- Person of any age with end-stage renal disease or Lou Gehrig's disease.

Medicare is four programs:

- Part A: Hospital insurance. For most Medicare beneficiaries, there is no premium for Medicare Part A. Individuals who are ineligible for free Part A can still enroll, but must pay a premium. See the table Medicare Part A Premiums (2025) on Page 14-30.
- Part B: Medical insurance. See the table Medicare Part B Premiums (2025) on Page 14-31.
- Part C: Combined Part A and Part B. Private insurance companies approved by Medicare provide this combined coverage through Medicare Advantage Plans like HMOs and PPOs.
- Part D: Prescription drug coverage. Optional coverage—see Medicare Drug Plans (Part D) on Page 14-31.

 Note: See the table 2025 Medicare Benefits on Page 14-32 for a listing of covered services.

Medicare premium assistance. If a Medicare recipient has limited income and assets, programs are available to help pay medical costs. State rules vary. Contact the applicable state medical assistance (Medicaid) office. Contact information for each state is available at www.medicare.gov. Choose "Talk to someone", "Find Your State Office," and select your state.

- 1) Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB). Pays Medicare premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments for certain elderly and disabled persons entitled to Medicare Part A.

- 2) Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary (SLMB). Pays the medical insurance (Part B) premium for persons with incomes up to 20% over the national poverty level.
- 3) Qualifying Individual (QI). Pays the Part B premiums only.
- 4) Qualified Disabled & Working Individuals (QDWI). Pays Part A premiums only.

Eligibility for Hospital Insurance (Part A)

Age 65 and older. A person is eligible for Medicare Part A if he:

- 1) Is receiving social security or railroad retirement benefits,
- 2) Is not receiving social security or railroad retirement benefits, but has worked long enough to be eligible for them,
- 3) Is entitled to social security benefits based on his spouse's (or divorced spouse's) work record, and that spouse is at least age 65 (the spouse does not have to apply for benefits in order for the person to be eligible based on the spouse's work) or
- 4) Has worked long enough in federal, state or local government to be insured for Medicare.

Under age 65. A person is eligible for Medicare Part A if he:

- Has been entitled to social security disability benefits for at least 24 months,
- Has received a disability pension from the railroad retirement board and meets certain conditions, or
- Has Lou Gehrig's disease or end-stage renal disease.

Family members:

- 1) Under certain conditions, a spouse, divorced spouse, surviving spouse, and dependent parent may be eligible for hospital insurance at age 65.
- 2) Disabled surviving spouse under age 65, disabled divorced surviving spouse under age 65, and disabled children may be eligible, usually after a 24-month qualifying period.

Permanent kidney failure. People with end-stage renal disease are eligible for Medicare Part A at any age if they receive maintenance dialysis or a kidney transplant and:

- Are insured or are getting monthly benefits under social security or the railroad retirement system or
- Have worked long enough in government for Medicare insurance.

Notes:

- A spouse or child with this condition may be eligible for coverage based on another's work record.
- There may be a three-month waiting period after dialysis treatments begin for coverage to commence.

Medicare Part A Premiums (2025) ¹
Quarters of Covered Employment	Monthly Premium
30-39.....	$285
Less than 30.....	$518

¹ Applies only if ineligible for premium-free Part A. Part A is generally free when individual (or spouse) has at least 40 quarters of coverage.

Eligibility for Medical Insurance (Part B)

- 1) A person age 65 or older, or a person entitled to Part A hospital insurance benefits, can enroll in Part B plan by paying a monthly premium. No social security or government work quarters of coverage are needed.
- 2) Aliens age 65 or older not eligible for premium-free Part A must be lawfully admitted permanent residents and live in the U.S. for five continuous years before they can enroll in Part B.

Higher Part B premiums for higher income individuals. Certain Medicare Part B enrollees pay a higher Part B premium based on their income.

¹ 2023 AGI plus tax-exempt interest and exclusions for U.S. savings bond interest and foreign earned income and housing.

There is also a Part B deductible each year before Medicare starts to pay its share.

↳ Note: The Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act (MACRA) increased the amount that Medicare beneficiaries pay for Medicare Part B premiums based on modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) levels for years beginning in 2018. The income threshold levels were frozen through 2019 and indexed for inflation beginning in 2020.

Medicare Options

Most Medicare beneficiaries can choose to receive all Medicare benefits either through the original fee-for-service program (Parts A and B) or through a variety of managed care and other programs under Medicare Advantage (Part C).

1) Fee-for-service (Parts A & B). Medicare pays a set percentage of hospital, doctor and other health care expenses, and the beneficiary is responsible for certain deductibles and coinsurance payments. Beneficiaries choose Medicare-approved licensed physicians, hospitals, health care providers, or facilities.

↳ Note: A Medigap policy can supplement fee-for-service coverage.

2) Medicare Advantage Plans (Part C). Medicare Advantage Plans are private medical plans approved by Medicare designed to provide coverage offered by Original Medicare (Parts A and B) but may include additional services. There are different types of Medicare Advantage Plans including: health maintenance organizations (HMOs), preferred provider organizations (PPOs) private fee-for-service plans (PFFSs), medical savings account (MSAs), special needs plans (SNPs), and HMO point-of-service (HMOPOSs). Generally, services must be obtained from the provider's network unless for an emergency inside/outside the service area. The organization receives a monthly payment from Medicare and the beneficiary must be enrolled in and pay the monthly premium for Medicare Part B. A monthly premium and a co-payment each time a service is used is typically charged. In addition, some benefits beyond Medicare may be provided, including preventative care, prescription drugs, dental care, hearing aids, and eyeglasses.

↳ Note: A Medigap policy is usually not needed with an advantage plan.

Medicare Drug Plans (Part D)

Everyone with Medicare can join a Medicare prescription drug plan (Part D) in their area. Individuals may sign up when they first become eligible for Medicare (three months before the month they turn age 65 until three months after the month they turn age 65). Individuals who receive Medicare due to a disability can join from three months before to three months after their 25th month of cash disability payments.

Individuals can also join, switch or drop Medicare Part D coverage during the open enrollment period, which runs from October 15–December 7. The change will take effect the following January 1. But, individuals who don't sign up when first eligible may pay a penalty (premiums increase by 1% for every month enrollment is delayed).

↳ Caution: If an individual who is enrolled in a Medicare Advantage Plan that includes prescription drug coverage joins a Medicare prescription drug (Part D) plan, he will be disenrolled from his Medicare Advantage Plan and returned to Original Medicare.

Medicare Drug Coverage Cost Components
The actual dollar amounts vary depending on the plan chosen and the drugs purchased.

Note: In 2025, out-of-pocket costs for covered drugs are capped at $2,000.

Income-related premium adjustment. An individual's monthly Medicare Part D premium is increased when his annual income reaches a certain level. This applies to Part D coverage he gets from a Medicare prescription drug plan, a Medicare Advantage Plan with prescription drug coverage (like an HMO or PPO), or a Medicare cost plan that includes Medicare prescription drug coverage.

Medicare Part D Premium Adjustment (2025)

² This amount is paid in addition to the plan's premium.

Individuals will be notified by social security if they have to pay the additional Part D premium.

↳ Law Change Alert: As part of the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA), the coverage gap phase (also called the donut hole) will be eliminated. The coverage gap was a temporary limit on what the drug plan would pay for drugs. Beginning in 2025, Part D coverage will consist of a three-phase benefit: 1) a deductible phase, 2) an initial coverage phase, and 3) a catastrophic phase. There will be no initial coverage limit, and the initial coverage phase will extend to the maximum annual out-of-pocket threshold, at which point the catastrophic phase will begin. Note: As part of the IRA changes, out-of-pocket costs for covered drugs are capped at $2,000 for 2025.

Extra Help. Individuals who meet certain income and resource limits may qualify for Extra Help from Medicare to pay the costs of Medicare prescription drug coverage. Individuals automatically qualify if they have Medicare and meet any of these conditions:

- Have full Medicaid coverage.
- Get help from their state Medicaid program paying their Part B premiums (in a Medicare savings program).
- Get Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits.

MEDIGAP INSURANCE

Medicare supplemental insurance policies (Medigap) are private insurance policies designed to cover all or part of the deductible and coinsurance amounts not covered by the original fee-for-service Medicare plan. Medigap policies may also cover certain things that Medicare doesn't cover.

Enrollment. After the effective date of Medicare Part B, there is a six-month open enrollment period for Medigap policies. During this period, a person age 65 or older cannot be denied or charged a higher premium due to poor health.

Pre-existing conditions. Policies may exclude coverage for pre-existing conditions during the first six months the policy is in effect. Pre-existing conditions are conditions diagnosed or treated during the six-month period before the effective date of the Medigap policy.

Standard Medigap Policies

Insurance companies can only sell standardized Medigap policies. Each standardized policy must have specific benefits. There are 10 different standardized Medigap policies (Medigap Plans A-D, F, G, and K-N). Each plan has a different combination of basic and extra benefits. Exception: In Massachusetts, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, Medigap policies are standardized in a different way. See "Supplements and Other Insurance" at www.medicare.gov for details on all the standardized plans.

 Note: Starting June 1, 2010, plans E, H, I, and J are no longer available to buy. But, individuals who already have those plans (or who bought them before June 1, 2010) can keep them.

Starting January 1, 2020, plans C and F are no longer available for individuals that turn 65 on or after this date. But, individuals who already have those plans (enrolled before January 1, 2020) can keep them. Every Medigap policy must follow federal and state laws and must be clearly identified as Medicare Supplement Insurance. Insurance companies can sell only standardized Medigap policies. All plans offer the same basic benefits but some offer additional benefits. Insurance companies decide which Medigap policies they want to offer. Although the plans are standardized, insurance companies can charge different premiums for them.

 Practice Tip: Married individuals must each buy their own Medigap policy. A Medigap policy won't cover any health care costs for the insured's spouse.

Litigation

On March 1, 2024, a U.S. District Court ruled that the CTA was unconstitutional because it “exceeds the Constitution’s limits on the legislative branch and lacks a sufficient nexus to an enumerated power to be a necessary or proper means of achieving Congress’ policy goal.” In this instance, the plaintiffs, National Small Business Association (NSBA) and an NSBA member, sued the Treasury Department after FinCEN issued the final rule, alleging that the mandatory disclosure requirements exceed Congress’ authority under Article I of the Constitution and violate the First, Fourth, Fifth, Ninth, and Tenth Amendments. In its conclusion, the Court ruled in favor of the plaintiffs and prohibited FinCEN from enforcing the CTA against them. Currently, FinCEN is not currently enforcing the CTA against the plaintiffs involved in the case. Specifically, FinCEN will not require the NSBA or members of the NSBA as of March 1, 2024, to provide BOI information “at this time.” On March 11, 2024, Treasury filed a Notice of Appeal, confirming that FinCEN is not in agreement with the limited enforcement currently in place.

While the appeal is being determined in the Eleventh Circuit, additional cases have been brought in other jurisdictions. Most of these cases are pending the outcome of the appeal in the NSBA case. In addition to the lawsuits challenging the CTA, legislation was recently introduced by Senator Tommy Tuberville (R-AL) and Representative Warren Davidson (R-OH) to repeal the CTA, posing additional uncertainty to the fate of the CTA in the wake of the ruling in the NSBA case. There has been no legislative action on these bills since their introduction. The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) and many state CPA organizations have written to the Department of Treasury asking that enforcement of the CTA reporting requirements be suspended until one year after all the court cases have been resolved. The concern is that many small businesses will still potentially be caught off guard with the CTA reporting requirements based on the confusion surrounding the meaning of the court cases and the introduced legislation.

Caution: Due to recent litigation, BOI reports are not currently required to be filed and are not subject to penalties for failure to file. However, reporting companies may continue to voluntarily submit BOI reports. Practitioners should continue to monitor the situation.

A Practitioner’s Liability

Due to the impact of BOI on many small and midsize businesses as well as sole practitioners, a client’s first thought might be to turn to their tax practitioner for advice on BOI reporting. Practitioners who decide not to provide BOI services could potentially face professional liability risk for a client’s noncompliance in certain situations. If a client is penalized for noncompliance, they may blame the practitioner for failing to advise them about the filing requirements. To help reduce this risk, consider sending a general client notice by letter or email alerting your clients to the BOI reporting requirements. Be sure to retain copies of the letter/emails and proof of distribution. If you plan not to provide CTA services, state this in all engagement letters stating that CTA services will not be provided. A simple statement that BOI reporting is not within the scope of the engagement and that the client is responsible for compliance with the CTA including BOI reporting should suffice. Also, provide information regarding the BOI reporting requirements and a link to the FinCEN website for reference. Advise your clients to consult legal counsel regarding the applicability of the CTA to their business. If compelled to provide a high-level response of a general nature in response to a client question, be sure to follow up the advice with written documentation to the client advising them of the limitations of your advice and direct the client to retain a qualified professional for a more detailed response. Providing technical or interpretive advice on the CTA may rise to the practice of law. The “practice of law” is defined by the states, and many have an express prohibition against the unlicensed practice of law. Accountants have a limited grant to “interpret” tax law under Title 26 of the U.S. Code (the Internal Revenue Code) via Treasury Circular No. 230 and state accountancy statutes. It is unclear whether interpretation of CTA statutes, which are under Title 31 of the U.S. Code (Money and Finance) is similarly permissible. Depending on a client’s fact pattern, CTA compliance may require affected entities to obtain legal advice and analysis. If a non-attorney is determined to have practiced law without a license, this act would be excluded under their professional liability policy. Also, there could be the risk of aiding and abetting if the practitioner is accused of assisting a client who is found to have intentionally falsified reports. If you decide to provide services related to CTA compliance, understanding the risks is critical in understanding how to manage them. Careful planning and consistent application of risk mitigation strategies including a separate engagement letter that narrowly defines the scope of services is essential. Consultation with your legal counsel and professional liability insurance carrier is strongly recommended to help you understand your risks.

Additional Information

FinCEN issued an updated Version 1.1 of the Small Entity Compliance Guide for Beneficial Ownership Information Reporting Requirements. The Guide includes interactive flowcharts, checklists, and other aids to help determine whether a company needs to file a BOI report with FinCEN, and if so, how to comply with the reporting requirements. The Guide will be updated periodically with new or revised information.

FinCEN has issued and will continue to issue frequently asked questions to address specific questions on the topic. They can be found at: www.fincen.gov/boi-faqs.
